

FELT-TIP MALLETS

WPM200 / 14921

FEATURES AND BENEFITS

You can use the multipurpose WPM200 Felt-Tip Mallets for playing multiple instruments, including timpani, bass drum, and field instruments. With feel-wrapped round heads, these mallets are soft enough to be used safely on bongos and congas. These mallets can produce mellow tones on tuned instruments such as marimbas, glockenspiels, and vibraphones. The WPM200 mallets can also produce a lighter, slower attack on drumkit cymbals, gongs, and bells. These mallets make it easy to achieve proper beater positioning on a wide range of large drums. The striking end of the handles is slightly tapered for balanced weight distribution and precise stroke control. By varying the velocity of your hits, you can generate different levels of projection and sustain. To ensure consistent contact from every striking angle, the heads are evenly rounded without any flat areas.
